Post-delivery Support:

VTP offers a wide range of post-delivery support options to its customers to include fully authorized Original Equipment Manufacturer (OEM) maintenance contracts for hardware, software, and any other deliverables provided. Please ask your sales representative about these options and the service level that makes sense for your need. To engage these services after purchase, VTP will provide a detailed support deliverable to you for your records. This will list appropriate contact information, the manufacturer support contract, serial numbers, period of performance and all other relevant details to ensure you are well-supported for the life of the solution. For any specific questions, please don't hesitate to contact:
